I am very happy to write for the passing-out batches of B.A.LL.B. and B.Com.LL.B. (2021–26) and LL.B. (2023–26). While the final year of our law school is largely internship-focused, these students have truly made the most of their time on campus – whether five years in the integrated programs or three years in the LL.B. course. In this span, they have embraced classroom education as well as practical learning through workshops, internships, moots, and ADR competitions. I feel truly proud and privileged to have worked closely with some of the brightest minds of this graduating cohort of Lloyd. This batch has left its mark by excelling in academics, LTAC and LCPC, and achieving success in national and international mooting and ADR competitions. They are all remarkable, and some among them are destined to become outstanding professionals and industry leaders of excellence. My heartiest congratulations on their graduation, and my very best wishes for the greatest career ahead!

The Graduating Class of 2026 marks another milestone in Lloyd's journey of nurturing future leaders in law. Over the past years, this cohort has undergone a transformative academic and professional experience, one that balances legal scholarship with hands-on exposure. Through moot courts, legal aid clinics, internships, and research, they have refined not only their knowledge but also the discipline, adaptability, and ethical foundation that the legal profession demands. What distinguishes the Class of 2026 is their forward-looking engagement with change. From industry-driven certifications and structured internships to continuous skill-building initiatives, they have prepared themselves for a legal landscape that is dynamic, complex, and global. Their journey has been shaped by intellectual rigor, resilience, and the ability to navigate challenges with clarity. As they step into their professional roles, I am confident they will contribute meaningfully to the institutions they serve, carrying with them the values of integrity and excellence that define Lloyd Law College. We invite you to connect with this talented graduating class and discover the promise they bring to the legal profession.

Lloyd Trial Advocacy Competition (LTAC)

Lloyd Trial Advocacy Competition (LTAC) is a year long annual Intra-college training-cum-competition. Selected students are given training on criminal subject matter through 'workshops' that are conducted by experts on relevant stage of a criminal matter. Like, police-officers conduct 'Workshops on Registration of FIR / Collection of Evidences / Preparing Police Report', Public Prosecutors / Advocates conduct 'Workshops on Arguments on Framing of Charge / Prosecution Evidence / Defense Evidence / Final Arguments'.

Workshops are conducted before each stage of the competition. These workshops give the participating students a practical understanding of the criminal matters before they participate in respective stage of the competition. Outcome of the LTAC is that the participants have now understanding of application of criminal procedural law in real-life situations as they have dealt with life-like situation for one whole year in simulating environment. In four editions (2018-19 to 2022-23) of the LTAC, we have trained more than one-hundred students who were ready to deal with any criminal trial matter as soon as they have joined the Bar.

LLOYD CIVIL PRACTICE COMPETITION (LCPC)

The Lloyd Civil Practice Cell (LCPC) is an institutional initiative of Lloyd Law College and Lloyd School of Law, established with the objective of equipping students with the practical skills and professional competence required for a career in civil litigation. Designed as a bridge between theoretical instruction and the realities of court practice, the Cell offers students an opportunity to engage with simulated proceedings modelled on the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908. The structure of LCPC enables participants to experience the complete spectrum of litigation, beginning with drafting of notices and pleadings, progressing through framing of issues and recording of evidence, and culminating in final arguments. Each stage mirrors real-world processes, thereby ensuring that students gain both procedural fluency and substantive clarity. Guided by faculty experts, practicing advocates, and judicial professionals, the Cell emphasizes precision in drafting, advocacy finesse, strategic reasoning, and adherence to professional decorum. Regular workshops, evaluations, and mentoring sessions reinforce these competencies while also instilling discipline, ethical responsibility, and analytical rigor. By integrating academic learning with practical training, LCPC prepares students to transition seamlessly into professional roles. It stands as a vital platform for nurturing industry-ready litigators who embody competence, integrity, and excellence in advocacy.
